To the west of Bratislava, north of the so-called "Red Bridge", a railroad bridge on the line from Bratislava to Decin, work has begun on the construction of 12 rather large buildings which are to house a new institute of atomic research. The construction is taking place in the valley that leads from the "Red Bridge" to the former tourist village of Zelezná Studienka (N 48-11, E 17-04). There is a large military depot on the western slope of the valley. On the eastern slope of the valley an underground atomic shelter (sic) was constructed last year. Since the beginning of April 1955, the valley has been declared closed as a military area and is no longer accessible to civilians.
